

Would you like to future-proof your learning, and 'go digital' in a way which both engages your workforce and increases their learning efficiency?

Here at Skill Pill, we've specialised in engaging digital learning since 2007, and have a wealth of experience in creating and delivering digital learning for some of the world's biggest brands.

We are now offering our consultative skills in the form of a strategic workshop which will help your organisation define and successfully implement a customised digital game plan.

The workshop will focus on and assess your current offering against the following criteria - all of which are essential to both the successful launch and longevity of digital content:

- Cultural context
- Technological climate
- Proximity to business/business drivers
- Generational bias
- Collaborative mindset
- Trust
- Lean-agile culture
- Internal communication
- The role of L&D
- Reporting and tracking
